

Dictation Contest (PRJr, 初級) No. 173

Hello, everyone! Welcome to PR Junior.

Today is part three of Batman.

The batarang was hooked to a rope. The rope wrapped around the dragon. "Now, I've got you," Batman said. The dragon bit through the rope with large, sharp teeth. Then, it swatted Batman away with its tail. The dragon was too strong for Batman. "I can't stop it alone," Batman said.

What's going to happen to Batman? You'll have to wait and see!

Okay, bye, guys!

Dictation Contest (PR1, 中級) No. 173

Hey, guys! How's it going?

Let's see if the Jedi knights and the queen can safely make it to the planet Coruscant...

Oh, no! Federation Vulture Droids attack the royal starship. A team of astromech droids hurries to repair the ship's shields. A brave droid named R2-D2 saves the day. Meanwhile, across the galaxy, the true villain behind the Federation's plot is furious that Queen Amidala has escaped. Darth Sidious is a Sith lord; an evil master of the dark side of the Force. Darth Sidious orders his apprentice, Darth Maul, to find Queen Amidala.

Oh... Darth Sidious? Darth Maul? They sound like pretty bad guys...

Join me next time, okay? See you!

Dictation Contest (PR2 上級) No. 173

Hey guys, how're you doing?

Hope you're all still staying healthy and safe.

Now, have any of you ever been to Universal Studios Japan? And have any of you ever been on the Jaws ride? If you have, I'm sure you'll have seen the giant shark model hanging upside down, and maybe even taken a picture with it. I first saw that model at the Universal Studios in Florida when I was six years old (a million years ago). But neither of those theme park versions are the model from the original film, which is now set to be immortalized in a new museum. Take a listen:

More than four decades after terrorizing beachgoers in Jaws, the blockbuster movie's 7.6-meter shark model has been installed at Los Angeles' Oscars museum, it was announced November 23rd. "Bruce the Shark," rumored to have earned its nickname from director Steven Spielberg's razor-sharp lawyer, now lurks above the third floor of the Academy Museum of Motion Pictures, due to open April 30th, 2021. "It's been a long journey for Bruce since he was acquired in 2016, and we couldn't be happier to welcome him to his new home," said the museum's president, Bill Kramer. Weighing over 540 kilograms, the shark is the largest object on display in the museum's collection.

So, there you go! Have any of you seen the movie Jaws? If you haven't, I strongly recommend it. It's a little bit scary and a little bit gory, but it's essential viewing for anybody who loves film.

Alright, guys, well until next time – and as always – study hard, stay safe, and I'll see you soon.