

Dictation Contest (PRJr, 初級) No. 206

Hello, everyone! Welcome to PR Junior.

Today is part two of Who stole the cookies?

Who me? Not me! This is my foot.

A ha! It may be the foot of an elephant.

Who me? Not me! This is my foot.

A ha! It may be the foot of a duck.

Who me? Not me! This is my foot.

Now I know who stole the cookies.

Hmm, I wonder who it is. We'll find out next video. See you!

Dictation Contest (PR1, 中級) No. 206

Hey guys! How' it going?

So last time, our Jedi hero Obi-Wan Kenobi was captured by the evil Count Dooku after finding out about the Separatists' diabolical plan. Let's see what happens next.

Back on Tatooine, Anakin and Padme receive Obi-Wan's message. They blast off, along with R2D2 and Anakin's old droid, C-3PO, to rescue him from Geonosis. But before they can reach Obi-Wan, they are captured by Jango Fett and the winged Geonosians.

Oh, dear! So now all of our heroes are captured on this strange, scary planet. I wonder who will rescue them. I guess we'll just have to wait and see.

Okay, guys, see you next time!

Hey, guys! How are you doing?

Hope you're all still staying healthy and safe.

Now most professional sports leagues are currently in full swing, albeit without spectators in most cases, despite the fact that the pandemic is much worse now than it was back when these leagues were first suspended – at least in Japan and the U.K. and various other countries anyway. Even so, I haven't really been keeping up with much football news recently, but I just came across this story, which I thought was quite surprising. Take a listen.

Kazuyoshi Miura, the oldest-ever player in the J. League top flight, will continue playing at age 54 with first-division Yokohama FC, the club said January 11th. Known to fans as "King Kazu", the former national team striker will turn 54 on February 26th in what will be the 36th year of his professional career. Miura played four J1 games for Yokohama FC last season as the club returned to the top flight for the first time since 2007. "My aspirations and passion for soccer are only increasing," Miura said in a statement.

Wow, 54! I don't know many European players that continue playing anywhere close to that age. And according to this picture of him, he doesn't look close to that age either! What a very youthful 54-year-old he is.

Alright, guys, well until next time – and as always – study hard, stay safe, and I'll see you soon.
