

Dictation Contest (PRJr, 初級) No. 429

Hello, everyone. Welcome back to PR Junior.

Today, I will be telling you part six of the story about a pumpkin. Let's go.

Lily made a great leap, and landed right on top of the pumpkin. The pumpkin rolled out from under Lily. The pumpkin rolled out of the truck and down the ramp, and then it kept on rolling. Lily ran after the pumpkin. Daddy ran after Lily.

OK. That is all for today. Thank you very much for watching, and see you next time. Bye-bye!

Dictation Contest (PR 1, 中級) No. 429

Hello, everyone! Welcome back to PR 1.

Today, I will tell you about the Tokyo metro attack. Let's begin.

A man who was wearing a Batman Joker costume, attacked passengers in a Tokyo metro car. The attack happened near Shinjuku Station.

Some people on the train saw a man holding a knife, and he threw liquid on the seats. Then, the man set a fire on the train, and he attacked passengers with a long knife. The man hurt 17 people before police arrested him. It was not clear why the man did it, but reports said that the man wanted to kill people and to get a death sentence.

Well, that's all for today and I'll see you in class. Bye-bye!

Hey, guys! How are you doing?

Hope you're all still staying healthy and safe.

I have a little news story for you here that doesn't pertain to any particularly crucial world issues, but it does involve animals and that's almost always fun so take a listen to this:

A python looking for a joyride snuck aboard a sailboat in the Florida Keys and ended up staying until the boat finished its nearly 160-kilometer voyage, police said. The crew found the 2.1-meter snake in the boat's shower after docking November 12th in Marco Island on southwest Florida's Gulf Coast after the trip from Indian Key, a distance of about 155 kilometers around the southern tip of the peninsula, police said. Police quickly responded and transferred the snake to a local wildlife handler, according to a police news release. The police department posted multiple photos of a uniformed officer grinning wildly on the boat with the python coiled around his arm.

Huh! What about you guys? Would you be "grinning wildly" with a python wrapped around your arm? I know I would, but I also know many people wouldn't go anywhere near a snake of that size.

Alright, guys, well, until next time – and as always – study hard, stay safe, and I'll see you soon.
