

Dictation Contest (PRJr, 初級) No. 666

Hi, everyone. Welcome back to PR Junior.

Let's listen to the second half of my letter to [my] grandparents. Let's get started.

This summer, we will visit you in the U.S. Maybe we can ride on a boat and see some dolphins then. Mom and Dad are fine! They are cooking dinner together now. Haruto really liked his present from you. He really wanted some new ice skates. He is writing you a letter right now.

That was all for today. See you next time, bye-bye!

Hello! Welcome back to PR1!

Today you are going to listen to the story of Rapunzel. Let's begin!

Rapunzel had long, long hair and lived in a tall, tall tower. Her hair was as long as the tower was tall. When Mother Cruella came home every day, she called, "Rapunzel let down your hair!" And Rapunzel pulled Mother Cruella up in to the tower.

Rapunzel's hair was magical. It kept Mother Cruella young and beautiful. Rapunzel did not know Mother Cruella had stolen her from her real parents, the King and the Queen. Mother Cruella wanted the magical hair all for herself. Mother Cruella never let Rapunzel leave the tower. She told Rapunzel that bad people wanted to take her magical hair. Rapunzel had one friend, a chameleon named Daniel.

That's all for today. See you next time!

Dictation Contest (PR2 上級) No. 666

Hello, everyone! Welcome back to PR2!

In this video, you are going to listen to the first part of the short story about Ben, who was stranded on an abandoned island. Let's begin!

"Where am I?" Ben thought to himself when he woke up on a peculiar beach. "I can't remember what happened."

There had been a bad storm, and Ben's fishing boat sunk. He washed ashore on a small island, but he had gotten hurt during the storm. He had a terrible migraine, and he had a fracture in his shoulder. He felt awful. But he had a desire to make it home to his spouse and children. He had to tolerate all the pain and devise a plan.

Ben stood up and looked around. "I'll walk to a higher altitude, so I can see everything around me," thought Ben. "Maybe I'll gain some insight about this island and find something to help me escape."

As he walked along a mountain ridge, he noticed that the tall indigenous tree looked sturdy and thick. Ben got a brilliant idea. He could build a raft!

That was all for the first part of the story. What did you think? What would you have done, had you been in Ben's shoes? Let me know during our next PR2 class. Bye-bye!
