

Dictation Contest (PRJr, 初級) No. 809

Hello, everyone! Welcome back to PR Junior.

Sarah is on her way to the airport. She and her family [are] going to Hawaii. So Sarah packed many thing in her bag. Hawaii is very sunny so she packed her sunglasses. She checks her bag before getting on the plane. She can't find her sunglasses! Where would [they] be? Sarah asks her mom. Her mom told her that [they] [are] on her head. Sarah is ready for the trip.

That's all for today. See you next time!

Dictation Contest (PR 1, 中級) No. 809

Hello, everyone! Welcome back to PR1.

Today, we will talk about solar power. Let's begin.

Solar power refers to energy from the sun. Solar power could be part of a solution to shift the world toward clean energy. It cleanly converts the essentially limitless light of the sun into electricity. There are already many places using solar power as part of their power source. However, it is still unable to serve as the main power source for most cases. Engineers are advancing solar technology and thereby increasing the amount of power that it can generate. One key to these efforts is developing more efficient solar panels. Despite these efforts, at present, solar energy cannot match the output and price competitiveness of fossil fuels.

Well, that's all for today. See you!

Dictation Contest (PR2 上級) No. 809

Hello, everyone! This is another PR2 movie, and today I am going to be reading the second half of the story about a boy named Ben who was wrongly accused of something. Please, listen closely!

“Mr. Green, my son has been implicated in a crime he says he didn’t do,” Ben’s father said. “Everyone believes the gossip. Even some of our own kin think he did it!”

“I believe you. My suspicion is that the tape from the security cameras will show who really did it,” said Mr. Green.

The next day, Mr. Green received a packet with the videotape from the school. It showed another student who resembled Ben walking up to the painting and writing on it. The student took a knife by the shaft and started to stab large holes in it. Finally, he severed the rope that help up the painting, and it fell to the floor.

Mr. Green showed the tape to the principal. “Clearly, that’s not Ben,” he said. “This boy is actually responsible and needs some discipline.”

Ben was very happy that someone believed him. He said to Mr. Green, “When I graduate and go to university, I will major in law, so I can be a guardian of justice like you!”

That was all for Ben’s story. Aren’t you glad that he was able to be understood in the end and to avoid being wrongfully punished? Let me know your thoughts next time you see me. Bye-bye!