Hello, everyone! How are you?

What instruments can you play?

When I was younger, I learned how to play the violin and the flute. I don't play any instruments at the moment, but if I could play any instrument, I would really like to learn how to play guitar.

Are there any instruments that you can play? And are there any instruments that you wish you could play?

Please tell me what your favourite instrument is.

Okay, guys, see you!

Hey, guys! How's it going?

Let's continue with our exciting sci-fi adventure, okay?

Trapped on the Death Star, Luke and his friends hide from the Imperial forces. Obi-Wan sets off to deactivate the tractor beam so they can escape. R2-D2 plugs in to a computer and makes an incredible discovery: Princess Leia is being held prisoner on the Death Star!

Oh! Princess Leia! From the message! She's here! In the Death Star! What a stroke of luck!

Okay, guys, join me next time, alright? See you!

Hey, guys! How are you doing?

Hope you're all still doing your best to practice social distancing.

A little while ago, we talked about the effects the coronavirus pandemic has had on the film industry, and that some movies, like the new Avatar movie, were actually getting back on schedule. Well, sadly, that's not the case for some other movies. Listen to this:

Warner Brother on July 20th said it was delaying indefinitely the release of Christopher Nolan's movie Tenet, in a further blow for movie theatre chains in the U.S. "Unfortunately, the pandemic continues to proliferate, causing us to reevaluate our release dates," studio chairman Toby Emmerlich said in a statement. The release of Tenet had already been pushed back twice, from July 17th to July 31st and then to August 12th. The thriller about an agency trying to ward off World War Three combines the big-budget spectacle and inventive storytelling that have made Nolan one of Hollywood's most sought-after directors.

Hmm, have you seen any Christopher Nolan movies? He's definitely one of my favourite directors, and I was really looking forward to seeing this movie, too. Ah well, I guess we'll just have to wait and see.

Alright, guys, as always, study hard, stay safe, and I'll see you soon.
