Hello, everyone!

It's very hot today isn't it? Actually, it's pretty hot in England at the moment, too. But usually, England is not as hot as Japan. In the summer, it's usually about 25 or 26 degrees Celsius in England, and sometimes it goes up to 32 or 33 degrees. But today, it is 37 degrees in Tokyo, which is definitely very hot. Make sure you drink lots of water, okay?

Alright, guys, take care!

Hey, guys! How's it going?

Are you enjoying this gorgeous weather? It has been pretty hot recently, hasn't it?

It has also been quite hot in England recently, too. I think they are in the middle of a heatwave, which is where the temperature is much higher than normal. But usually, British summer is not as hot as Japanese summer. In the UK, the temperature usually gets up to about 30 degrees Celsius. Whereas in Japan, it sometimes gets up to 40 or even 45 degrees, which is a little unbearable for some people. I like hot and sunny weather, but what about you? Can you tolerate this heat?

Okay, guys, take care, okay? And drink lots of water! See you next time!

Hey, guys! How're you doing?

Hope you're all still staying healthy and safe. And I hope you're all enjoying this beautiful weather!

It might be a little bit too hot for some of you, but I really like this kind of weather. It reminds me of being on vacation, which just makes me want to travel again. Some countries are actually opening up their borders to tourists again, but some of those countries have certain restrictions in place. Listen to this:

Singapore will make some incoming travelers wear an electronic monitoring device to ensure that they comply with coronavirus quarantines as the city-state gradually reopens its borders, authorities said August 3rd. From August 11th, the devices will be given to incoming travelers, including citizens and residents, from a select group of countries who will be allowed to isolate at home rather than at a state-appointed facility. Similar measures using electronic wristbands have been used in Honk Kong and South Korea.

Hmm, well that's interesting! Singapore is definitely on my list, but I think, first of all, I really want to just go to a nice, quiet beach somewhere.

Alright, guys, as always, study hard, stay safe, and I'll see you soon.
